

I believe option 2 is the preferred option as it means that each candidate has a criminal history check carried out. I believe an audit of these should also be carried out. In the event that someone cannot obtain a CCC, eg the china or myanmar example, or if the overseas authority does not respond, then evidence of attempt should be provided and some leeway should be offered.

Kind regards

R Scharbillig, PhD