RE: Consultation on a proposed National Board guideline for informing a National Board about where you practise

Thank you, for your recent request for input in to the draft guidelines. The Australasian College of Podiatric Surgeons (“the College” or “ACPS”) is the peak body training and advocating for Podiatric Surgeons in Australia. The ACPS welcomes opportunities to engage with AHPRA with regard to amendments to law, which will affect its members.

The ACPS council supports the amendment and believes that podiatric surgeons providing practice information will promote transparency and good governance amongst podiatric surgeons in Australia and further aid AHPRA if investigations are required in the interest of public safety.

The ACPS is happy to provide further comment or discussion if required.

Yours faithfully
