Hi there,

I think this a bad idea, and intend to retire rather than have the medical, perhaps that is the intention.

To single out doctors as the only people in society who have a job that requires a medical is absurd.

Politicians, accountants, lawyers, company directors, pharmacies, nurses, engineers, building inspectors, all responsible jobs, why am I singled out?

I will not perform these medicals on my peers either, I don't imagine any decent minded doctor would.
